

SALE OF LIQUOR IN SUMMER HOTELS

Committee on the Judiciary Reports Adversely on Bill to Repeal the Right to Sell.

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Hartford, March 12.—When Speaker Healy called the house to order Friday a secret count showed there was not a quorum present, and the usual roll call of Friday was deferred until the messengers counted a quorum and after considerable business had been transacted. Just 146 responded to the roll call, or 17 above a quorum. Thirteen of the 30 members of New London county were present and the same number were present from Windham county out of a membership of 24. Seated near the speaker during the session were Senator Sumner Mowry of Wakefield and Representative Henry R. Davis of Woonsocket, members of the Rhode Island general assembly, and Col. Henry R. Cutler of Providence.

Matters of Finance.

The committee on finance made unfavorable reports in these measures and the reports were accepted and bills rejected: Exemption of municipal bonds from taxation, which would be a substantial loss to the state revenue; exemption of property of soldiers and sailors from taxation, as present exemptions are considered as being concerning taxes of mutual life insurance companies, which was to be for the benefit of foreign companies; the accounting of collection of taxes, with special reference to the town of West Hartford, as similar bill is with judiciary committee; the publication of assessed valuation by towns, considered a useless expense. The committee reported favorably the bill for the taxation of woodlands and authorizing Rocky Hill to issue bonds. Another bill reported unfavorably was to substitute personal bonds for bonds of surety companies of town officials.

Judiciary Committee.

These favorable reports were made by the committee on judiciary and related for calendar and printing: act amending chapter 175 of the public acts; concerning justice courts; civil actions opening judgments in default; reward for information against poultry thieves; assessment and collection of personal tax; undue preference by common carriers; sale of certain business and assignment of insurance thereon. Calendar.

Labor Legislation.

The committee on labor made unfavorable reports on these matters and the reports were accepted and bills rejected: Hours of labor of employees in state institutions, which called for 26 days a year with pay; vacation for employees in state institutions, with special reference to outside employees, the nurses and attendants now being granted vacation of two weeks each year. Rejected.

Fire Prevention Day.

The committee on education reported favorably on the bill authorizing the governor to name Fire Prevention day; payment of public money for evening schools. Calendar.

Calendar Matters.

These matters were taken from the calendar and passed: Act creating a board of finance and increasing the power of the board of selectmen of the town of East Haven; amending charter of Meriden Permanent Building and Loan association; amending charter of city of Meriden, three acts; incorporating the Thompson Hill Water company; authorizing the town of West Hartford to construct sewers; amending charter of New Milford Water company; amending charter of the accounting of collection of taxes, not to apply to the towns of Manchester, Clinton or West Hartford.

Non-Support Bonds.

There was passed from the calendar an act which provides that any person who is arrested for non-support and who gives bail bond for appearance for trial and who shall forfeit such bond, that such bond shall be paid to the treasurer of the city, town or borough where the case was to be tried, and to be paid to the treasurer of the city, town or borough, or both, in such weekly installments as the court may determine.

Reformatory Commitment.

The act concerning the Connecticut reformatory was amended by house action so that all courts having jurisdiction to impose jail sentence may commit offenders to the state reformatory, between the ages of 16 and 25.

Did Isabel Insult?

The committee on finance, through Mr. Isabel, of Naugatuck, house chairman, unfavorably on the act to authorize the city of Bristol to issue municipal bonds to be exempt from taxation, and asked for the acceptance of the report and rejection of the bill. The representative from Bristol objected to such action, claiming that the city officials had received no notice of the hearing, and no opportunity to present their claims. Mr. Isabel replied that it would have made no difference if every resident of Bristol appeared, as they would have no influence with the committee. At that time Mr. Isabel explained that he intended no discourtesy to the gentleman from Bristol or his constituents and tendered his apology, adding that the committee was opposed to any tax exemptions. Speaker Healy interposed that the apology was not appreciated as the gentleman from Bristol had left the hall of the house.

Railroad Bill Passes.

The bill authorizing the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company to dispose of the stock of the old Colony and the Providence and Stonington Railroad companies, the text of which was in Thursday's Bulletin, was passed in the house on Friday. The bill, explained by Mr. Wilcox of Stonington and was passed without discussion.

Hall of the House Use.

The committee on education was granted the use of the hall of the house for a hearing on the afternoon of Tuesday, March 30. Like privilege was granted the committee on public health and safety for Wednesday, March 24.

The committee on appropriations was granted the use of the hall of the house, for an address by General Miles in advocacy of a fund for the erection of a Perry Memorial at Put-in-Bay, the estimated cost of which will be $50,000. Other speakers were Senator George F. Wallcut, Representative Davis of Woonsocket, and Colonel Hery R. Cutler of Providence.

DIVORCES FOR THREE WOMEN

Granted in Superior Court—Two Husbands Were Unfaithful and the Other Left on Thanksgiving Eve in 1901—One Case Continued for More Evidence.

Three divorces, in each case on the petition of the wife, were granted by Judge William L. Bennett in the superior court at New London on Friday morning. All were on the uncontested list.

Deserted on Thanksgiving Eve.

On the grounds of desertion since Nov. 28, 1901, Nellie Enos Strickland of New London was given a divorce from Frank H. Strickland of New London. She was also allowed to resume her maiden name of Enos. They were married on January 31, 1895, in New London, by Rev. S. Leroy Blake. When placed under the care of attorney, Clayton B. Smith, Mrs. Strickland testified that she first began to have trouble with her husband because of habitual intemperance about a year and a half after their marriage. In the next few years she left him three times on this account, returning each time on the hope that he would do better. On Thanksgiving Eve in 1901 he came home drunk and said words which she never forgot. That night he left her after taking some of her valuables. He had previously been arrested for larceny.

Her testimony was corroborated by her mother, Eleanor Enos, with whom she had lived since the separation.

Evidence of Misconduct.

Carrie E. Smith, of Groton, whose maiden name was Judd, was granted a divorce from Amos Smith of New London to which she was married on April 6, 1911. The ceremony was performed at New London by Justice of the Peace Perry J. Hollander. She was also allowed to resume her maiden name of Judd.

The divorce was sought on the grounds of adultery with Edna Edwards at New London between Jan. 1, 1912, and June 11, 1914. A certified copy of the birth record of a daughter to Edna, Lewis at New London, April 21, 1914, was among the papers in the case. In the certificate the name of the child's father was given as Amos Smith of New London.

The case was continued from last Friday for further evidence. At that time Mrs. Smith testified that her husband had told her that he had been living with another woman by whom he had a child, but Judge Bennett declined to grant the divorce on the admission of the husband.

Friday morning Mrs. Grace B. Mercer testified to renting a tenement to Mr. Smith and a woman who he said was Mrs. Smith. She also testified that Mrs. Smith on one occasion when Mrs. Smith had given birth to a child. The petitioner who was in court was asked to stand and Mrs. Mercer was asked if she was the woman who had given birth to the child, to which the witness replied in the negative.

Mrs. Mercer was the only witness whom Attorney J. C. Geary called to the stand Friday morning and at the conclusion of her testimony Judge Bennett granted the divorce.

Husband in State's Prison.

On the grounds that William Henry Dennis had committed an infamous crime involving violation of conjugal duty for which he was sentenced to state's prison on Oct. 1, 1912 for not less than two nor more than three years, Ella G. Dennis of Norwich, whose maiden name was Proctor, was granted a divorce from him. They were married on Aug. 16, 1900, and have three children, of which the mother was in custody. Attorney Charles E. Thayer appeared for Mrs. Dennis.

More Evidence Wanted.

Judge Bennett next heard the case of Thomas P. Maher of Norwich against Agnes E. Maher of Syracuse, alleging desertion. There are two children, Mr. and Mrs. Maher were married June 21, 1900.

Maher testified that he was employed in the Hopkins & Allen shops in Norwich, residing at the Y. M. C. A. and teaching dancing as a side issue. He said his wife left him about three years ago. On that occasion his wife visited a sister in New York, taking their daughter with her and after she had been there about a week he received a letter from his wife stating that she did not intend to come back to Norwich. He wrote asking her to come back, but she never replied. He had heard that she was now in Rochester, where she was living with another man.

Two other witnesses, fellow employees of Maher, testified that he was not living with his wife. Judge Bennett inquired of Maher if he had the letter which his wife wrote him and the petitioner replied that he had been unable to find it having mislaid it. Judge Bennett stated that no testimony had been introduced to corroborate the desertion and he would continue the case to permit of introducing further evidence.

The case then went off where Charlotte Champlin Allen vs. J. Edgar Allen and Thomas F. Maher vs. Agnes E. Maher.

TROLLEY CONDUCTORS

TO HAVE EXAMINATIONS.

Before Taking New Runs—Rule Made By Connecticut Company.

New Haven, Conn., March 11.—In new rules issued to conductors of the Connecticut Company (trolley) yesterday there is the provision for examination of conductors prior to taking out new runs for the spring and summer season. The new rules are effective April 15. The requirement for examination is said by conductors here to be an innovation.

At the office of the Connecticut Company it was stated that the new rules have been in charge of preparation since last August, and that they effect both motormen and conductors. These employees will have to take written examinations on the company's rules of operation. The rules are a recommendation of the Public Utilities Commission and the examinations are designed to provide the company with documentary evidence of the construction of a trolley car and the means used to operate it to the extent that motormen and conductors have to do with operation. The examinations will be held on all divisions of the Connecticut Company.
